Student kills 3 profs, self

- Neighbors call killer ‘nice guy’; students, faculty label him ‘strange’ — PAGE 8
- Emergency diverts UMC patients, delays traffic, overloads servers — PAGE 9

---

Timeline of Events

- About 8:30 a.m. Robert Stewart Flores Jr. enters the College of Nursing with five guns, proceeds to the second-floor office of Assistant Nursing Professor Robin Rogers and kills her.
- 8:35 a.m. Flores arrives at a fourth-floor classroom and kills Barbara Monroe and Cheryl McGaffic, both assistant professors of nursing. He releases the students and commits suicide shortly thereafter.
- 8:37 a.m. A student in an adjacent classroom calls 911.
- 8:40 a.m. UA police officers arrive at the College of Nursing.
- 8:44 a.m. 33 TPD officers training at Himmel Park respond.
- 8:54 a.m. Flores is confirmed dead on the fourth floor.

---

Speedway divides university reaction

By Rachel Williamson

Staff Writer

When gunshots rang out in Jerrica Wesley’s ears, she took off running from the CatTran shuttle stop near the Arizona Health Sciences Center. She ran to class rather than waiting for the shuttle. “I have never been so close to gunfire before,” Wesley, a resident of Babcock Inn Residence Hall, 1717 E. Speedway Blvd., said she was too scared to return to her room later yesterday morning. Wesley and others who live, work and attend class at the “Swede” Johnson building and other areas north of East Speedway Boulevard, the mood was more subdued as the news slowly permeated the UA. At the “Swede” Johnson building and other areas north of East Speedway Boulevard, students and workers spent much of the day pooling together as the news slowly permeated the UA.

---

B-ball ticket sales incite mob

By Ryan Johnson

Staff Writer

Basketball ticket sales were delayed yesterday after a riot team of 16 police officers broke up an uncontrolled crowd of over 2,000 people who were pushing and shoveing from all directions to get to the ticket booth.

The ticket office had been giving out vouchers informing people when all directions to get to the ticket booth. Originally, the ticket office had been giving out vouchers informing people when all directions to get to the ticket booth.

At 5:30 a.m., the ticket office opened one-third of the booths, and the crowd mashed inward to get vouchers. Steam emanated from the crowd as people clamored for position. Once people realized their tickets, they had difficulty getting out of the crowd. Most resorted to crowd-surfing their way out of the mob, and as each person left, people rushed to fill the hole.

Women shielded in pain and others pleaded for everyone to get back. “Someone’s under there. Move back,” one person yelled out.

Though paramedics reported no serious injuries, several people were injured, including a UA police officer who was fictioned after being struck in the chest.

---

State races heat up, see profiles — PAGE 6

---

Student kills 3 profs, self

Students and faculty gather near the scene of a shooting that left four people dead yesterday morning in the College of Nursing. The gunman, a struggling nursing student, shot and killed three professors before turning the gun on himself.