Quick Hits

Registration, drop deadlines are today

Today is the last day for students to drop a class without receiving a “W” and no transcript.

Today is also the last day for early priority registration students to sign up for classes via WebReg before the rest of the university.

‘Polkey’ wristbands on sale at Arizona ticket office

Wristbands honoring late Arizona women’s basketball center Shawn tinice “Polkey” Folk, who collapsed unexpectedly and died Sept. 26, are on sale for $2 at the Arizona ticket office.

The red, white and blue wristbands read “Polkey #00” and will benefit the Shawn tinice S. Folk endowment fund.

For more information on the bands, contact the ticket office at 621-2287 or (800) 452-CATS.

UA law grads surpass state bar pass rate

Graduates from the James E. Rogers College of Law exceeded the Arizona State Bar pass rate with a double-digit margin.

The Committee on Examinations of the Supreme Court of Arizona announced the two-day bar examination results.

Out of 101I graduates who took the test in July, 97 passed on the first attempt, which is 16 percent higher than the overall pass rate for those who take the test on the first time.

*“Legal education does not directly correspond to bar exam scores and our program is aimed at preparing the whole lawyer — not just those who do well on standardized tests,” said College of Law Dean Laurence Claire C. Wildcat.

“But the skills that our students acquire here — writing, critical thinking and synthesis of legal principles — all of those prepare our students to perform with distinction in many arenas.”

---

DRUGS, page 11

Student-parents feeling left out from Family Weekend festivities

Child-friendly activities in short supply, some say

By Danielle Rideau

Arizona Daily Wildcat

Family Weekend is advertised as an event the entire family can enjoy, but many student-parents don’t feel there are enough child-friendly events during the weekend for their young children to attend.

Dionna Lopez, the president of BabyCats, a support group for student parents, said if Family Weekend were oriented for families with young children, she would take her 4-year-old son to some of the events.

The BabyCats program will not be hosting events for student-parents during Family Weekend, but they are planning to have a booth on the UA Mall with child-oriented activities during Homecoming Weekend, said Lopez, an economics senior.

Chrisie Lieberman, the senior coordinator of Commuter Student Services, said if she was in charge of Family Weekend, she would understand or enjoy the game.

---

FAMILY WEEKEND: page 11

Student-parents say they’re disappointed that Family Weekend doesn’t cater enough to families with young children.

---

REACTORS: page 6

FEMALE IllUSIONISTS, page 6

---

ArizonA Daily Wildcat

Since 1899

The University of Arizona, Tucson

Friday, October 14, 2005